

Benjamin R. Lindorf

Ben Lindorf is the Director and General Counsel for IDA. He has held his current role since 2016. Prior to that, he served as IDA's Associate General Counsel and Corporate Compliance Manager.

Before joining IDA in 2009, Ben was a senior associate attorney in the Global Regulatory Enforcement Practice Group of Reed Smith LLP. He also served as an associate attorney with the International Trade Practice Group of Williams Mullen PC and as a paralegal specialist with the U.S. Department of Justice, Office of the Solicitor General.

Ben received a law degree, with a Global Law Scholar certificate, from Georgetown University. He has a bachelor's degree in French from Brigham Young University. Ben was a 2021 Leadership Academy Fellow at the National Capital Region Chapter of the Association for Corporate Counsel. He also completed the Harvard Kennedy School's Leadership in Crises executive education program in 2023.

An avid cyclist, Ben is a Level 2 Coach for the National Interscholastic Cycling Association and serves on the board of directors of NOVA Cycling.

About IDA

IDA is a nonprofit corporation that operates three federally funded research and development centers in the public interest. IDA answers the most challenging U.S. security and science policy questions with objective analysis leveraging extraordinary scientific, technical and analytic expertise.